CORRESPONDENCE.

Elkhart.

Wheat harvest is on hand, and the music of the reapers is heard in the land.

Hay harvest will begin this week and promises to be a very large one.

Mr. Will Ferguson is building a barn. Will declares this is the last year of his bachelor life. There is a maxim which says, "Where there is a will, there is a way."

Mr. John Handshaw's brother-in-law of Kansas, is paying Johnny a visit.

During the past week your correspondent has had occasion to do some circulation in order to gather up the neighborhood news, (which by the way is very scarce,) and was thus afforded the grand opportunity of viewing his neighbor's prospects of crops of different kinds.

We noticed several very promising fields of corn. But think the fields of E. G. Reeves, and our staunch democratic friend Jim Brown, take the lead. D. M. Clark takes the lead in flax, and Joel Ferguson in castor beans. Among the best wheat fields we noticed those of E. P. Foster, T. E. Crider and S. M. Talbot.

We have no fine specimens of Clydesdale colts to cite you to as Fritz and Kid, but we will put Elkhart against the country for pretty girls.

Miss Laura Clark closed the spring term of school at Edgewood last Friday a week. We understand Mr. Slater will wield the rod in the self same place this coming winter.

Very well, Miss Brown Eyes, you hereby have a standing invitation to visit S in water-melon time. As we think Mrs. S. is very hard to beat trying chickens, just bring your chickens and come over, and after serving the fritasses we will "devour a million."

Willow Branch adjourned Sabbath school on last Sunday to attend the S. S. reunion at Edgewood.

The Friends will celebrate the 4th and 5th at Vinton, in the way of a picnic and basket meeting. Bro. Frazier will conduct the exercises, we understand.

Quite a crowd assembled at Silver Dale on last Sabbath to listen to the discourse of Rev. Wright, one of the most able discourses which it has been our good fortune of listening to for some time. Silver Dale always has a crowd.

Mr. Berav and lady visited D. M. Clark on last Sabbath.

We are having an Austrain July. Sunday school at Silver Dale every Sabbath afternoon.

We can't conceive how "Lelia" could tell that an "old maid" was not known by seeing her at church.

Willow Branch day school closed last Friday, and Miss Flora Forbes who well hath borne her part as teacher, we are informed will serve the school as a "school marm" the ensuing year.

Why Brownie we failed to see why you could have refused to call us bachelor on the excuse of being poet. J. C. Whittier, America's most popular poet is an old bachelor as many more were. All poets have strong imaginations we confess, but we are certain we did not jump the bounds. What we said was only to prove that we were not a bachelor. We had no idea of keeping up a fight with "weapons mightier than the sword." We are ready to confess that we never had any sympathy for old bachelors, but always have had for old maids, for old bachelors would not be anything else if they could, and old maids could be nothing else if they would.

Brownie we are personally acquainted with Observer, and you are mistaken in your five B's. Not one B in all his name.

How did we editor spend the 4th? SILVERMASTER.

Summit.

The weather continues so wet and cool that it gives us more time to pick up items, so we send you in a few ahead of time.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Smiser started on a visit last Wednesday to Harrisonville, Pleasanton and other points in the surrounding country.

Mr. D. McDaniel gave the young folks of South Summit an ice cream supper on last Thursday evening. We have not learned but suppose they all enjoyed themselves as usual.

B. F. Howe was around last Tuesday finishing up the assessment of this township. He thinks that his books will be the first in the county turned over to the county clerk. Mr. H. understands his business and the township will do well to continue him in office.

Wm. Hubbard informs us that A. O. Johnson was thunder struck one day last week, but Mr. J. was too much for the thunder bolt as it failed to knock him down and he is not suffering any inconvenience from the shock.

What township except Mt. Pleasant, was better represented at Butler the 4th than Summit.

Now Brownie you should beg our pardon, for all the ladies who know say that we are not a crusty old bachelor and hard to please—and you know the dear creatures will not lie—so you must have erred in your conclusions; but tell us how you got back of our non de plume and why did you try to expose our name?

Would you believe it if we were to say there is but one man in the county having five capital B's in his name and P. O. address; did you ever see our smiling face and if you have did you think we looked like one whom you would have the public believe us to be? It might seem a little odd to some, Brownie for us to believe you an old maid after your admission of the fact because it is a well known fact that an old maid will not often acknowledge herself as such, a different view from what you intended, concluded that your object was to make the impression that you were about "sweet sixteen" when you are probably three times that number like ourselves; we will say, however, that you are a guesser of the old school. We will not guess your name at present, but will wait awhile.

W. F. Lafollete was over in northern Summit Thursday last, getting up a jury to try a case before 'Squire Wright in which the great state of Missouri was plaintiff, vs Al Hardin, defendant. W. O. Jackson was out looking after the case but nearly failed to get off his grim leggings. The trouble was his misunderstanding had grown too broad after leaving Butler. OBSERVER.

Cornland.

There was quite a storm here Saturday evening.

The corn fields are getting green with grass.

Wheat harvest is about over in this section.

There was quite a large crowd at Sabbath school.

James Butler and wife were visiting their son and daughter, Ben Butler and Mrs. Barber, near Altona.

Rev. Thomas, the presiding elder of the W. B. church, preached here on Sunday.

Albert Butcher, of New Home, was here Sunday. After Sabbath school he walked down toward the switch to see if it had been moved.

Miss Ella Lafferty, of Butler, is visiting Mr. Williams' family.

Mrs. Lowry, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Butler, near Altona, returned home Sunday.

Married.—At the residence of the bride's brother, June 12th. Bud Campbell and Ludda Clark, by Esq. J. T. Butler.

Mr. B. R. L. Poston, our bridge contractor, who has a large contract in the north part of the county, reports good luck and plenty of it. He will complete his job soon. PRAT.

Johnstown.

Everything unusually quiet in our little village; a granger upon our streets is a rare sight and attracts the attention of our whole populace.

The M. D.'s think it distressingly healthy at this time.

Jas. Miller, who is working at Judge Porter's, near Johnstown, was bitten on the hand a few days ago by a small poisonous snake resembling a rattlesnake, while he was loading wood. He hurried to Johnstown where he was furnished with sufficient "spirits fermenti" to render the poison of the reptile futile.

Corn generally looks well though small. Wheat almost a failure. Flax about a half crop. Still, our farmers being contented with what the Gods send, are not discouraged, and as the glorious 4th approaches they anticipate spending that holiday in celebrating the freedom of their forefathers. "VENTAS."

Mayesburg.

Seeing nothing in your valuable paper from this section in the way of items let us send you up a few.

Dr. S. A. B. Hughey has bid adieu to Mayesburg and returned to his old home in St. Louis and left Mrs. Huff, who has been sick for the past five weeks, to the tender mercies of Dr. Griffith, who will gladly rescue her from her perilous situation. Edgar is a talented young physician, and the community left wholly to his care, will, we think, be secure.

In some of your items we see complaints of no rain in some parts of the county. Oh, ye of little faith, if ye were only with me to-day—and yet after all the heavy rains we have had crops look splendid with the exception of the corn crop being late.

We hear the sound of the iron horse and feel the tremor of his powerful tread, yet we cannot get there on account of the bridge being unfinished. We long to hear the sound of hammer and chisel upon that structure once more and may it be rebuilt so that when the rain comes and the wind blows it will fall not for being founded upon a rock.

Mr. D. C. Scranton, our clever roadoverseer, is doing some fine work during rainy spells while farming cannot be attended to.

Dr. Griffith had the misfortune to lose a fine mare, also Mr. Yates a mule.

A man was seen riding into our quiet little village the other day supposed to be the deputy sheriff, the boys showed their heads around the corner of stores like little prairie dogs. What hast thou done that when I call thee thou hidest from before my face. GREASY.

A Remarkable Occurrence.

New York, July 2.—An occurrence so remarkable in its results that they would not be believed, if not fully attested, has recently taken place here. A boy named John H. Mulkus employed in the soap and pertumery works of Mr. Salom Palmer, Nos 374 and 376 Pearl st. took hold of a dull red hot iron. His right hand was terribly burned and he suffered excruciating torture.

Palmer's lotion was promptly applied, the bandages being kept well saturated with it. In an hour the pain had almost gone. In five days the hand was well and not a scar remained. The boy made an affidavit that the marvelous cure had been effected solely by the use of Palmer's lotion.

Ich and Scratches of every kind cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. Use no other. This never fails. Sold by W. J. Lansdown, druggist, Butler, Mo. 49-177

Arrived at Auckland.

The Republican received a special cablegram from Auckland yesterday stating that Detectives Tracy and Badger arrived safely in that city on the morning of the 29th. Mr. Gamble, the American consul, met the officers and gave them all the information relating to the arrest and detention of Maxwell. The latter was found in custody and answered fully the descriptions of him at the time of the murder. He has been treated well by the Auckland jailer and appeared to be enjoying good health.

He was greatly surprised when the announcement of the arrival of the St. Louis officers was made. They immediately had a long talk with him which resulted in Maxwell's signifying his willingness to return on the next steamer. The papers were presented in due form and the requisition promptly acknowledged.

The officers made an examination of Maxwell's effects and found the field-glasses bought at Aloe's, the hat bought at Hart & Duff's, a lot of clothing belonging to Preller and a number of articles with the alias, "Hugh M. Brooks," stamped on them.

Maxwell still insists that he did not kill his friend Preller and that his name is T. C. D'Augier and not Maxwell. He is disposed to waive all rights under the New Zealand law for the purpose of coming back here and, as he says, establishing his innocence. He had very little money when he landed, but had letters of introduction to parties in Auckland and Sydney under the name of D'Augier which are believed to have been forged from Preller's letters of introduction to people in the same cities. The officers and their prisoner will return on the steamer Zealandia which will leave Auckland July 25 and arrive in "Frisco" about the middle of August.

In every town there is a class of men, or rather unfeathered bipeds, who do nothing but loaf around saloons and stand in groups on street corners to gaze at and make remarks about ladies as they pass. To know that she is the subject of remarks is exceedingly embarrassing and mortifying to a lady, and these swaggering, blear-eyed bums who thus occupy their time, should be driven out of respectable communities. The lascivious gaze of these lustful individuals is sometimes sufficient cause for any man who respects a pure woman to resent it in such a manner that the brutes will not soon forget, and if summary and severe punishment was visited upon them every time they gave expression to their observations and desires, they would soon learn that a sacred guard is thrown around female virtue. To their diseased and obscene mind everything should be subservient to their beastly desires, and every respect of feminine purity ought to constitute himself a vigilance committee and punch the heads of these loafers every time they are caught plying their nefarious practices. Drive the loafers out.—Lamar Democrat.

A Clear Skin

is only a part of beauty; but it is a part. Every lady may have it; at least, what looks like it. Magnolia Balm both freshens and beautifies.
